1) List two disputes that can arise in the message authentication (The ones we have covered in class).

2) What is the difference between MAC and one way hash function?

3) What is the difference between strong and week collision resistance?

4) What is the role of the compression function in a hash function?